

SCENAR-

Revolution in electrotherapy

A unique electric stimulation

The SCENAR device provides a synergetic effect produced by non-harmful high-amplitude electric pulses and fields that cause tissue vibrations of high frequency.

The SCENAR signal, due to its unique physical characteristics, gives higher excitation of the thin peptidergic C-fibres in comparison with other methods of electrotherapy. It stimulates the transfer of the liquid and its components, greatly improves tissue trophics, restores the damaged intercellular connections, and provides a significant antioxidants' effect.

Biofeedback

The SCENAR is the first electrotherapeutic device in the world based on the principle of real time biological feedback between the device and the body. Our skin shows the state of our body. The SCENAR stimulates the skin, changes the skin impedance and reading the constant change of the skin impedance - the device constantly modulates the form of its signals. For the first time our body takes part in the generation of the therapeutic signal. As a result, each signal is different from the previous one, which prevents the development of accommodation. That provides the generation of sufficient amounts of biologically active compounds, necessary for the body self-restoration and achieving of homeostasis.

Patient-specific approach

Basic principle of the SCENAR-therapy: a minimal dose necessary to get the desired effect is optimal. The information component, rather than the energetic one, is the key component of electrotherapeutic stimulation.

Following the body response, the SCENAR-therapists use two stimulation modes: an individually-dosed mode, and a subjectively-dosed mode. That helps find the most optimal treatment modality.

SCENAR NT (SCENAR Pro, RITMSCENAR Expert)

It can be used as a therapy on its own or combined with other treatment modalities.

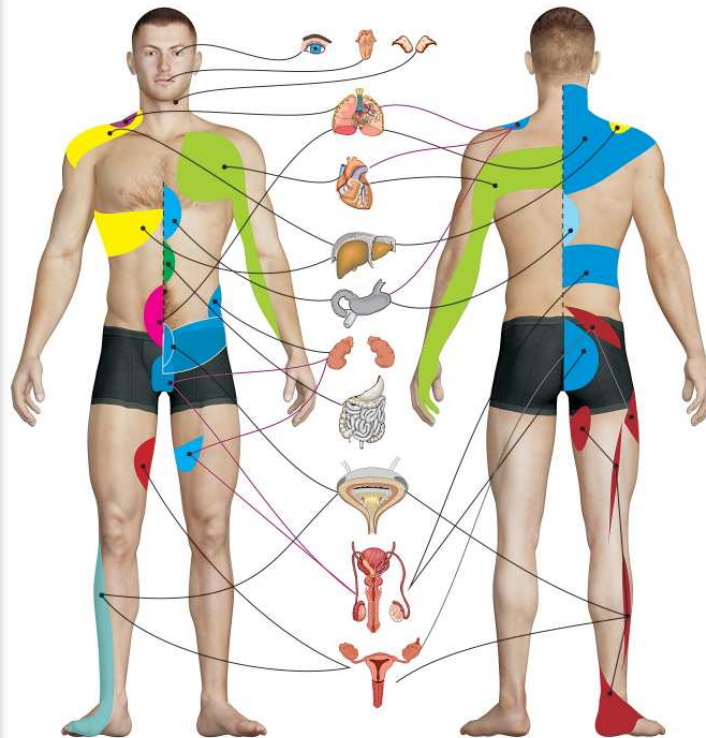

CHANS SCENAR (SCENAR Home / SCENAR Sport, RITMSCENAR Home)

This is a simple version of the device designed for patients that can use it either following doctors' recommendations or independently.

Healing compound devices - an ideal supplement to SCENAR-therapy.

These provide the patients' complete or partial protection from external electromagnetic and electrostatic fields and influence the patients with their own electromagnetic radiation of extremely high frequency. They are designed for use in multiple therapies of various diseases, for regulating psycho-emotional disorders, improving the sleep, increasing stress resistance, and relieving muscle tension.

Individually-dosed stimulation

It is based on objective data. The SCENAR is moved on the skin from one place to another, and the skin impedance values of the different places are estimated and compared. The individually-dosed stimulation is performed using two complementary integral criteria: Dose (sufficient change) and Zero (no further change in the skin impedance). In combination with special digital techniques, this approach allows to activate on purpose particular systems of the body.

Subjectively-dosed stimulation

This is performed using subjective sensations of the doctor and/or patient. The SCENAR is moved on the skin. The body response in the zones associated with the disease differs from that in unrelated areas. In any pathological condition, the changes in the state of the skin during the SCENAR-sessions show up as typical Small Asymmetry signs:

- change in the skin color (hyperemia-paleness);
- growth/reduction of sound when moving the device on the skin;
- difficulty in moving (stickiness) the device on the skin;
- change in feeling the stimulation (stronger/weaker).

During SCENAR treatment, one should identify these signs and treat them until they change to the opposite.

Memo

The SCENAR is a portable device that the doctor will apply on your skin and you will feel tingling that is usually comfortable or tolerable. The aim of the treatment is to achieve a CHANGE in your condition during the session. Sometimes you may experience a short temporary increase of symptoms after the sessions. Don't worry - it is a good sign! It means that your body responds quickly to the action, and that necessary changes are taking place. Inform your doctor of any changes in your feelings.

Contraindications

- Individual intolerance;
- Heart pacemaker;
- Serious mental diseases;
- Self-help in case of alcohol intoxication;
- Acute infectious diseases of obscure origin.
